

Wedding Destinations in Mexico

Getting married

involves a series of preparations, but above all the hope of finding the perfect scenario so that the experience is unforgettable.

Mexico has exclusive spots for celebrating romance; that is why hundreds of couples have made it the world's fifth most popular destination for getting married or renewing their vows, mainly with the sea as a witness.

The beauty of the destination of Los Cabos (www.visitlocabos.travel) makes it one of the places preferred by lovers to organize events ranging from very intimate receptions to parties for 400 people. In both cases Los Cabos has the infrastructure to adapt to couples' needs and make the wedding of their dreams a reality.

The most important hotels and resorts are staffed by qualified personnel to offer packages that include from the legal formalities to the reception and details of table linen, floral arrangements, music and setting, such as a garden or a beach with a view of the Gulf of California.

Puerto Vallarta (www.visitpuertovallarta.com) has packages for newlyweds and their guests to complement their stay with extreme sports activities and relaxing massages in a spa, to enjoy before or after the wedding.

Acapulco Bay and its sunsets (www.visitacapulco.com) have enamored millions of people. Hotels with tradition such as Las Brisas offer packages for weddings or to celebrate the first anniversary with a romantic dinner and courtesy nights for a second honeymoon.

There could be no better place for a wedding than the turquoise waters and privileged climate of the Mexican Caribbean; therefore many luxury hotels and resorts in Cancún (www.cancun.travel) provide couples with charming chapels, reception rooms and terraces to offer small toasts with large receptions.

For couples seeking new experiences, Maya union rituals continue to be an exclusive tradition of the Maya Riviera (www.rivieramaya.com). The region is exceptional for taking advantage of its natural places, such as cenotes and tropical havens, to carry out intimate ceremonies.

Xcaret is an ecological park on the Riviera and also a favorite place for weddings in the Chapel of San Francisco de Asís or in the area of natural pools known as Las Pozas. In the reserved restaurants and zones the reception is organized at night. The package includes relaxation treatments and temazcal sessions, prior to the great day.
