Magical Towns... Jiquilpan

Jiquilpan is a place where violet flower trees filter the sunlight illuminating the colorful plazas filled with handicrafts. The chapel, with its yellow domes, looks on as the days pass quietly in this town where the cobbled streets lined by white buildings welcome visitors with their crimson details.

As visitors walk through the town's quiet main square, they will find yourself surrounded by green hedges; one can sit peacefully and enjoy the sweet aroma of the jacarandas that flood every corner of the town and visit the important monuments that still retain the classic style of the state of Michoacan, as well as basking in the friendliness of the locals as they greet visitors each morning with a smile.

Come to live a unique experience in one of Mexico's Magical towns, and visit Jiquilpan!

Dr. Lars Vargö, Director of the Asia Program, welcomed attendees and highlighted the news of the second summit in Hanoi, Vietnam, between Presidents Trump and Kim Jong Un, on February 27 and 28, which "it is centered in the remarkable change of the US-North Korean relations; but while it was a historic opportunity for leaders of both countries to make significant progress in the peace and denuclearization process, they were more cautious in reaching concrete commitments." Dr. Vargö stressed that they addressed the long-term prospects of the peace process and denuclearization in North Korea without clear results. During his presentation, Dr. Sang Hyun Lee, from the Seoul Sejong Institute and a Visiting Fellow (Researcher) of the ISDP, explained how this historic point was reached, and he explained
